  safe.
- In order to comply with professional and ethical requirements, counsellors receive supervision by senior colleagues. In these cases your personal details are not disclosed, and supervisors maintain the same level of confidentiality as your counsellor.
- In the rare event that information about you may be subpoenaed by a court.

If any of these circumstances do arise, your counsellor will endeavour, where possible, to discuss with you regarding the need to breach confidentiality.

Counselling Agreement

Session Times

The duration of counselling sessions for individuals will run for 50 minutes, and 1 hour and 20 minutes for couple counselling.

The privacy of any form of communication via the internet is potentially vulnerable and limited by the security of the technology used. To support the security of your personal information Renewed Hope Counselling Services uses Zoom which is compliant with the Australia standards for online security and encryption, or where applicable, your Employee Assistance Program (EAP) secure video conferencing interface.

In the provision of a group telehealth service you may become aware of the private details of other attendees and you will need to be mindful to not disclose this to any other third parties, as you will breach the right to privacy of that individual.

A telehealth consultant may be subjected to limitations such as unstable network connection which may affect the quality of the session. In addition, there may be some services for which telehealth is not appropriate or effective. In these cases, your counsellor will consider and discuss with you the feasibility of ongoing telehealth services.
